Public Comments

Shirin Darbani explained the rules for public comments.

Gene Murden from Outreach was in favor of more allocated funding for the Outreach programs, and commented that recruiting new students would require more money.

Charlie Elder, from the athletics department, was in favor of more allocated funding for the athletics, and commented on the integrity of the players.

Jeffrey Forman, from the Massage Therapy Program, was in favor of more allocated funding for the Massage Therapy Program, and commented that they have 22-year-old washing machines and driers.

Daniel Dishno and Sofia Abad, from the CalWorks program, were in favor of more allocated funding for the CalWorks program, and commented that the program is for single, welfare-receiving parents.

Ali, a student at De Anza, was in favor of more equally distributed funding for the entire budget.

Cynthia Kaufman, instructor, was in favor of more allocated funding for the diversity programs, and commented that the diversity programs were being cut, yet others received more than they requested.

A student representative from the women's soccer team, was in favor of more allocated funding for the athletics, and commented that they need new soccer balls.

Becca Levin and Renee McGinley, from RENEW, were in favor of more allocated funding for the program, and commented that they used to have a re-entry program, but was cut by the FHDA District in 1998.

Carmen Pereida, from the co-op program, was in favor of more allocated funding for the program, and commented that she has over 1000 students per quarter and she is the sole staff.

A instructor representative from Sociology, commented that he just got back from the conference, which stressed diversity and he commented that the school needs diversity.

A student representative from the baseball team, was in favor of more allocated funding for the athletics, and commented that they appreciated the help in the past, and would like help in the future.

Chris Lang, a student, was in favor of more allocated funding for the SLAMS program, and commented that when he had freshman anxiety, SLAMS helped him get back on track and find a counselor.

Katie Dunlap, Gloria Heistein, and Sara Hojjat, from Cross Cultural Partnerships, stated their appreciation for the funding for next year.

Rudy Gonzalez, the director of the mural project, stated his appreciation for the funding to make the campus more beautiful, and he is also on the POW WOW committee and he commented that there is no funding for next year.

A few representatives from STARS, were in favor of more allocated funding for the program, and commented that the program will not be possible to operate with the $2,000 budgeted.

Al Dominguez, interim director of STARS, was in favor of more allocated funding for the program, commented on the state of former students.

A few representatives from the music and fine arts department were in favor of more allocated funding for the department, and commented that the performing arts center is a necessity.

Coleen Lee-Wheat, the women's tennis coach, was in favor of a more equally distributed budget.

James Harris-Williams, a former ICC Officer, also a STARS student, commented on his personal history of the STARS program, and what it has done for him in his past.

A few representatives of ICC, commented on past budget cuts and stressed how clubs are important. And how the money that they receive is less every year, despite the fact that the number of clubs are increasing year after year.

Nir Shafir, read his letter, a handout.

An English instructor commented on the DLTP retreat this past weekend, and how it changed his style of teaching. He commented that DLTP would affect each student that he has from now on.

Jasmine Bodmer, Editor-in-Chief of La Voz, commented that printing costs have risen, in addition to the staff increases as well. She was in favor of allocated funding increases to La Voz to fund new, bigger issues.

A representative from the SLAMS program commented that it is important to retain the students once they arrive on campus.

Zorie Maldonado, SLAMS program, important to retain the student once they get here,

Geraldine Garcia, the former DASB VP of Finance, commented that STARS, SLAMS, DLTP, are necessary programs.

Les Leonardo read from the PFE FAQ handout.

Burning Issues

Jittaun Batiste commented that the hours spent here will save others time.

QuynhChi Nguyen commented that everyone should follow parliamentary procedures.

Anthony Choice commented that people knew this meeting was going to take place, and that people should be here on time and stay for the entire meeting.

Sulaiman Hyatt commented that everyone should be consistent in the voting, and cut the DASB Senate budget before we cut others.

Melecia Navarro commented to the public that they should come back next week to support their issues.

Shira Leeder commented that the cuts are affecting other people, and not necessarily her directly. She also appreciates the time that the people spend to get the job done.

Ju Kang commented that the voting should be consistent.

Jessiree Primitivo commented that there should be no favoritism during the voting.

Jennifer de Leon commented that people should also consider the number of people who are affected by the cuts.

Usman Shakeel expressed his appreciation for the folks who spoke during the public comments, and that everyone should pay attention to the items that are being brought up. The programs that are here are representing a large portion of students, yet there are more programs that are not represented here, and each should be given an equal consideration.

Anthony Choice suggested some tips to help speed up the process of budget cutting. They are: to round down all numbers, to make across the board cuts, think of which programs have already ended, be consolidating, cut DASB first, consider previous budgets, and that everyone should be advocates and activists.

Sulaiman Hyatt suggested that the standing public should come find a seat.

Shirin Darbani announced some ground rules: the debate will proceed as pro/con as long as there are cons, things will run smoothly, and that the total budget is smaller this year. There is a 2/3rds vote for each item that is to be cut/added. The budget is broken up into sections, and we will go once through for cuts, and the second time through the cut money will be allocated.

Consent Calendar

1. Approve Evan Tang to the Technology Committee.
2. Approve Christina Smith to the Marketing & Communication Committee.
