To that end, 1 I want to continue involving and inviting SAAC + student athletes to present their concerns to DASB. 2 I want an official member of our body, a Senator or even a Chair, to sit on SAAC to keep constantly up to date on student athlete's struggles and challenges. 3 When I created the Bylaw change reserving 5 underrepresented seats for marginalized groups, that definition expanded beyond just ethnicity or even sexual orientation. Foster youth, veterans, and yes, student athletes, who statistically come from marginalized and disadvantaged backgrounds, are included in this. To that end, engaging the student athletic population into formalized systems of leadership will provide student athletes with more formalized advocacy and institutional influence to affect necessary change. 4 I want to formalize and elevate the position of SAAC within De Anza. When I first came across SAAC, I thought they were an advocacy group within the vein of Renter's Rights or PPS. Technically speaking, they are only a club, but in spirit they are so much more and in truth, I want that reflected. 5 I want to expand the advocacy and voice of student athletes by coordinating efforts and initiatives with surrounding colleges to amplify each other's voices and expand the network beyond our school. 6 DASB should not represent student athletes for them. They should be listening and not speaking over them. But advocacy doesn't end there. Come to me, tell me what you want so I can fight for you is only moderately better than speaking over the disadvantaged. At its heart its still saviorism.

I want to provide student athletes with the opportunity to engage in advocacy and leadership and not merely see myself as their voice or even DASB as their voice. I want student athletes to feel like they can join in the chorus with me. I don't want to offer saviorism, I want to offer solidarity and use my experience as a student leader for their service. Athletics at De Anza provide so many of our disadvantaged students with community and opportunity and I want to extend that into unity for advocacy as well. Come to me. Know you can reach out to me. Whatever challenge you face, know I am right there beside you and will do my best to EMPOWER you to lead the change that you are best suited to lead. That is my promise. In terms of addressing the concerns of student athletes, I want them at the table, making change, and do so with all the support the De Anza Associated Student Body can muster.

Thank you [REDACTED] for asking such a brilliant and poignant question. I apologize for the essay, but I had a lot to say and frankly not enough room to say it. Please ask me anymore questions if you have any-I'd be more than happy to answer them 😊

To correct to what Nathan said about creating bylaws changes for reserving seats for marginalized groups, it was a collective effort from the Legislative Affairs Committee, the diversity task force, and Senate. The work was distributed evenly to all senators, please give credit where it is due! So shoutout, to ALL senators that work on this matter :).

Yes to clarify everyone I took over Student Concerns when Lianna was on leave and I was one of the 3 key people on the team. I checked the minutes and I believe we tabled the item. Again my apologies for the clarification!

And to add on to I did not mean to say the effort was solely mine. Merely that the idea was mine and I pitched it and Legislative Affairs (me, Kishore, and Ananya) went with it. The Diversity Task Force to my knowledge pitched ideas and yes we did canvas to several different groups. However, the idea was originally from me and that is the

I would like to kindly disagree, please do not misinformed our students on this matter to order to further your campaign. To further clarify, all of senate was pitching for the idea to reserve seats to diversify the senate. Please don't take credit of being the "your idea" when many people in wanted to reserve seats in senate. (edited)

Again, that isn't what I am disputing. Reserving seats wasn't a unique idea of my own. But the idea of reserving 5 seats when the 30 was filled. When LAC was pitching that idea, it came from me. We all had a general idea and many people had many proposals and mine was chosen by LAC and it was debated by the entire Senate. Other proposals by LAC were debated prior to presenting the official idea to the floor. That is all.

then please refrain from saying statements like "When I created the Bylaw change reserving 5 underrepresented seats for marginalized groups" because it creates a misconception that you were the sole person working on it when frankly that's not true. You are misinforming our students in more ways than one and that's not how a current DASB senator should act. Like I said, please give credit where it is due. Thank you. (edited)
