

Reasons to celebrate International Women's Day

Because we can celebrate this in America (exercise our rights)
Recognize and bring awareness to the accomplishments of women over the last 200 years; brings to light political and social issues around the world; urges us to do something
To support the women who work really hard to earn a living
As Asian Americans, support another movement for rights, help each other out; honor other movements, including Asian American

Why accessible and quality education is good for society and for the state of California

It's better for society; more educated people create better jobs; good investment for better economy; keeps knowledge moving, preserves our history; we pass on education, gain more knowledge and advancement for technology; we're ranked 49th, so if more students have a better education we can be #1 again
