

F/TV 6A: SCREENWRITING FUNDAMENTALS FOR FILM AND VIDEO I

COLE QUIRK

Winter 2025

She, Her, Hers

Online

Office Hours: Fr 9:00AM-10:00 AM on Zoom

www.deanza.edu/creativearts

(see weekly links on Zoom tab in Canvas)

quirkcole@fhda.edu

Description:

F/TV 6A: This is an introduction to screenwriting for film and television with an emphasis on preparing scripts in proper formats, including fundamental technical, conceptual, and stylistic issues related to writing fiction scripts for entertainment purposes in film and television.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Demonstrate a command of story structure, dialogue, and character development.
Demonstrate a command for writing scripts for fiction films.

Producers, development executives, directors, and writers gain practical experience adapting and developing their own stories for motion pictures and television, starting with developing a feature film. Emphasis is placed on studying dramatic structure, learning techniques that strengthen character development, and understanding the importance of collaboration with writers. You are called upon to give feedback, receive notes, and actively participate in online class discussions and the writing process. You also learn how to assess the marketplace by determining what network and studio executives are looking for, as well as the best way to quickly and effectively pitch an idea, starting with crafting the logline. You will submit written works in progress for critiques. At the end of the course, you have honed your storytelling craft by writing an original script developed in class.

Goals: Through the study of original content written and curated for this class by the instructor, the student will learn to:

1. Brainstorm strong film concepts.
2. Develop those concepts into unique, well-structured stories.
3. Assess the fundamental elements of stories from films and TV shows that they love (tone, characters, structure, dialogue & theme).
4. Collaborate with classmates through questions, critical thinking, and development notes.

The goal of the course is to have a completed outline and act one of a film script.

Methods: Assigned readings, lectures, video screenings, online class discussions and workshops, with a focus on written work.

Note: Due to the nature of the course, the films, and the instructor, adult themes and language may be used. If you are sensitive, other classes might be worth exploring.

Communicating With Me

Contact Me: Through my De Anza email or Canvas inbox. My email is quirkcole@fhda.edu. I typically reply to students within a few hours or less during the week, and check both places frequently.

Canvas Announcements: I post announcements on Canvas as reminders for weekly office hours, additional support for assignments that a few students might have contacted me with questions on, and more.

Office Hours: I have weekly office hours where I'm on Zoom and available to anyone to pop in during that time. The weekly links are posted on the first day of class and they can easily be accessed in the Canvas Zoom tab. If this time does not work for you, and you would like to have a meeting to discuss anything from homework assignments to working in the entertainment industry, please reach out to me through email or Canvas message to schedule a Zoom.

Grading: Grades are updated promptly and available for all students to see their progress at any time. I am also happy to have a discussion about progress as well.

Lectures: Videos are posted Saturday morning so that students have enough time to watch, ask me questions, and engage with others well ahead of any homework assignment that is due.

Discussions: As part of the participation grade, students must read each other's work and give feedback on their peer's assignments. A small paragraph of feedback will suffice.

Required Reading:

You will be expected to read your classmate's work, read news articles, and screenplays linked from Canvas.

THERE ARE NO TEXTBOOKS REQUIRED FOR THIS COURSE

Optional Recommended Reading:

The TV Showrunner's Roadmap: 21 Navigational Tips for Screenwriters to Create and Sustain a Hit TV Series

- Author: Neil Landau
- Publisher: Focal Press
- Edition: 2013
- ISBN: 0415831679

Great for those interested in focusing on TV story development and idea sustainability for a TV series.

Writing Movies for Fun and Profit: How We Made a Billion Dollars at the Box Office and You Can, Too!

- Author: Thomas Lennon and Robert Ben Garant
- Publisher: Touchstone
- Edition: 2012
- ISBN: 978-1439186763

A fascinating, humorous, and no-nonsense look at screenwriting from two successful screenwriters.

Attendance & Policies: This class is asynchronous and collaborative in nature. Each week's lesson and writing exercises lead into the next. In order to succeed, submitting all assignments by the due date is necessary.

Disruptive Behavior: The college will enforce all policies and procedures set forth in the Standards of Student Conduct (see catalog or <https://www.deanza.edu/judicial-affairs/rights-responsibilities.html>). Any student disrupting the class may be asked to leave that class. Administrative follow-up may result.

Laptops & Cell Phone Policy: Laptop use is acceptable for reading and responding to classwork only. For more information about minimum technical requirements, as well as some free internet and tech resources visit www.deanza.edu/online-winter/#Learning

Add/Drop: It is the student's responsibility to add, drop, or withdraw from the class in compliance with De Anza's deadlines & guidelines. Failure to do so will result in an "F."

Academic Integrity: Plagiarism is a serious offense and will not be taken lightly. Please refer to the De Anza Student Handbook section on Academic Integrity.

Recording Policy: To ensure compliance with the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), student recording of class lectures or other activities is prohibited without the explicit written permission of the instructor and notification of other students enrolled in the class section. Exceptions may be made for approved accommodations under the Americans with Disabilities Act. Recording of lectures and other class activities may be made by faculty to facilitate instruction, especially for classes taught remotely through Canvas. Participation in such activities implies consent for the student to be recorded during the instructional activity. Such recordings are intended for educational and academic purposes only. Course material developed by the instructor is the intellectual property of the instructor and cannot be shared publicly without his approval.

Student Success Center: Need help? De Anza's Student Success Center offers tutoring and workshops. Visit <http://www.deanza.edu/studentssuccess> (Links to an external site.) for hours and information. Online resources available on Canvas: <https://deanza.instructure.com/enroll/MAF7Y8> (Links to an external site.) Students eligible for accommodations by Disability Support Services (DSS), please follow up to ensure that your accommodations have been authorized for the current quarter. If you are not registered with DSS and need accommodations, visit <https://www.deanza.edu/dsps> (Links to an external site.) for additional information.

Grades are based on the following:

Students must complete and deliver all assignments on time in order to receive full points. Because we are modeling real industry conditions, these are hard deadlines.

There are no points for late assignments. If you have a legitimate reason that meeting a deadline is not possible, you must contact me at least 24 hours before the due date/time so we can work together for a potential due date extension.

It is your responsibility to check that the document uploaded is the correct assignment, and not blank.

10% Participation - Actively engaging in class discussions on Canvas. Once we get into writing, you will be expected to give constructive feedback to your peers.

25% Homework Assignments - Turning in weekly assignments completed and on time.

30% Two Page Synopsis (MIDTERM) - A two-page synopsis of the original story idea chosen in class.

35% Script - A completed Act One script (FINAL).

THERE ARE NO TESTS OR QUIZZES IN THIS COURSE

Scale (Based on Total Points Earned):

97-100 = A+, 93-96=A, 90-92=A-, 87-89=B+, 83-86=B, 80-82=B-, 77-79=C+, 73-76=C

Rubric:

Screenplays will be assessed based on the following criteria:

- Character: Do they have clear wants, goals, and flaws?
- Conflict: Is there conflict and does it escalate, propelling the story forward?
- Pacing and Tone: Do the scenes feel rushed? Too slow? Is the script evenly a comedy, drama, or the intended genre?
- Clarity: Is the script properly formatted? Is the story easy to track and follow?
- Overall: Do I stay emotionally engaged in the story and characters from start to finish? Does the story make me feel something?

SCHEDULE

Class materials are posted SATURDAY AM.

Assignments are DUE FRIDAY by midnight.

Discussion Participation is DUE TUESDAY by midnight.

Once we get into writing scenes and story documents, you will be required to read each other's assignments, providing encouraging and constructive feedback to your group members (which counts towards participation).

Class 1 - Week of 1/6

Video: Introduction and Course Overview

Video: What is a Logline? Story Genres and Generating Ideas.

Homework:

1. Submit 3 Loglines. One sentence each, can be two sentences if needed, with one logline having a personal connection to you.
2. Discuss on Canvas – What is your favorite movie or an episode of your favorite TV show, and why?

Class 2 - Week of 1/13

Video: Crafting Active, Memorable Characters. Writing Natural Dialog and Subtext.

Video: Choosing your story. Why this Story? Why Now?

Homework:

1. Submit One Paragraph Character Bios for 3 Main Characters.
2. Discuss on Canvas – What is an unforgettable character from TV or film, and why?

Class 3 - Week of 1/20

Video: Writing Scenes - Script Formatting and Structure

Homework:

1. Submit One 3-5 Page Scene Between Your Protagonist and One Other Character.
2. Discuss on Canvas – What is a memorable scene from a TV or film, and why?

Class 4 - Week of 1/27

Video: Structure - Discovering Your Beginning, Middle and End. What is a Story Document?

Homework:

1. Submit a 1 Page Story Doc, written in essay form in a Word Document/PDF.
2. Discuss on Canvas – Give feedback to another student on their Story Doc.

Note: From here on out the class will transition to a workshop.

Class 5 - Week of 2/3

Video: World Building - Adding unique details to your story. Using specifics in Character, Voice, Tone, Location and More.

Video: Notes - How to Give and Accept Productive Feedback.

Homework:

1. Submit a 2 Page Story Doc (MIDTERM), which builds onto your one-page story doc.
2. Discuss on Canvas - Give feedback to another student on their 2 Page Story Doc.

Class 6 - Week of 2/10

Video: Writing the Outline - Act Structure for Features and TV Pilots (Three Acts vs. Six Acts). Escalating Conflict - What is an Act Out or an Act Break?

Homework:

1. Submit your Act One Outline.
2. Discuss on Canvas - Give feedback to another student on their Act One Outline.

Class 7 - Week of 2/17

Articles: Hollywood Overview – Entertainment news outlets (Deadline, Variety) to be reading daily and why.

No video, using time for Writing and Workshopping Outlines.

Homework:

1. Submit your Act Two (first half) Outline
2. Discuss on Canvas - Give feedback to another student on their Act Two (first half) Outline

Class 8 - Week of 2/24

Articles: Hollywood Overview – The Importance of Networking: Using social media (Twitter, LinkedIn) as a networking platform in the entertainment industry.

No video, using time for Writing and Workshopping Outlines.

Homework:

1. Submit your Act Two (second half) Outline
2. Discuss on Canvas - Give feedback to another student on their Act Two (second half) Outline

Class 9 - Week of 3/3

Video: Hollywood Overview - Film Festivals, submitting scripts to contests, and other places to get beneficial recognition for your work.

Continue Writing and Workshopping Outlines.

Homework:

1. Submit your Act Three Outline
2. Discuss on Canvas - Give feedback to another student on their Act Three Outline

Class 10 - Week of 3/10

Video: Hollywood Overview – The Business of Screenwriting. You Have a Finished Script, What Are The Next Steps? How do Agents and Managers work, ways to get them, and do you need them?

Continue Writing and Workshopping Outlines.

Homework:

1. Submit Scene One of your Act One Script
2. Discuss on Canvas - Give feedback to another student on their Scene One of Act One Script

Class 11 - Week of 3/17

Video: Hollywood Overview - Working in Entertainment: How to Find and Secure Internships (why internships are important) and Entry Level Jobs.

Homework:

1. Submit your Act One Script
2. Discuss on Canvas - Give feedback to another student on their Act One Script

*EXTRA CREDIT: In a short essay, identify which movie studio your story would be a good fit for and why it makes sense with their brand and current programming. Can receive up to 5 points, enough to cover one missed assignment.

Class 12 - Week of 3/24

Working on a TV Show – What’s it like? What are the roles of the support staff, and the writers, in a writer’s room? How do you get a job on a TV show?

Optional Resume critiques

Homework:

1. Submit your complete, revised Act One script. (FINAL) due 3/28 by midnight.